Question 1

KEYS TO SUCCESS

10 POINTS TO REMEMBER WHEN SERVING THE MEAL

- 1 Is your UNIFORM clean, smart and tidy and do you look your best?
- 2 Do you know what is on the MENU and if there are any ALTERNATIVES available if you are asked?
- 3 Do you know where the customer TOILETS are?
- 4 Do you know the TIMINGS of the day?
- 5 Have you got a SERVICE CLOTH, a tray and an order pad and pen, if required?
- 6 When your guests arrive, INTRODUCE yourself, tell them you will be looking after them for the day.
- 7 Serve all food from the LEFT and all drinks from the RIGHT - dirty plates should be cleared from the RIGHT. Always use a salver to clear glasses.
- 8 When pouring drinks in the right hand, always put your LEFT hand behind your BACK - only fill glasses 2/3 full, never to the top.
- 9 If some guests order a cold main course and some a hot meal, always serve the COLD DISHES FIRST.
- 10 Avoid a long wait between the service of the meat and the vegetables by working with A PARTNER on the service of the main course.

LOS ANGELES OPENS TOURIST OFFICE IN BEIJING

The Los Angeles Convention and Visitors Bureau (LA INC.) has recognised the importance of the emerging Chinese visitor market and worked over the last year to establish its overseas bureau.

China is currently the fastest growing market for Los Angeles, with a population of 1.3 billion people, of which 176 million (to grow by 50 million in the next three years) have enough resources to travel internationally. "Opening the office in China will help expand the global reach of LA INC." said Mark Liberman, President of LA INC. He projects 12% growth between 2007 and 2010, based on average growth achieved in 2005 when 86 000 Chinese visited Los Angeles.

The World Travel and Tourism Council reported that China's outbound tourism market is projected to grow to 100 million international travellers by 2020. As China's GDP grows by 9.9% annually, with an economy increasing to US$ 3 trillion, the country expects to quadruple its GDP in 20 years, averaging 7.3% annual growth. Numbers reflect positive trends of a population of 250 million with an increasing disposable income.

Analysts predict inbound travel from China to the U.S. will expand by 46% between 2005 and 2008. As home to the second largest Chinese-American community in the United States, Los Angeles can expect to receive a significant number of visiting friends and relatives. Los Angeles is the only city in America servicing all three Chinese national carriers - Air China, China Southern Airlines and China Eastern Airlines. Los Angeles International Airport is also the only U.S. airport providing 19 weekly non-stop flights from Beijing, Shanghai and Guangzhou to Los Angeles. Air alliances give Los Angeles a firm footing at the hubs in Beijing and Shanghai, where 15 million and 18 million people live respectively – a market size that can boost Los Angeles' economy.
